

VA Leadership Development Framework

Created by the Human Capital Services Center

May 28, 2020

For questions, please email VALDF@va.gov.

Choose VA

VA

U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs

The VA is committed to employee development and making our workforce “future ready”

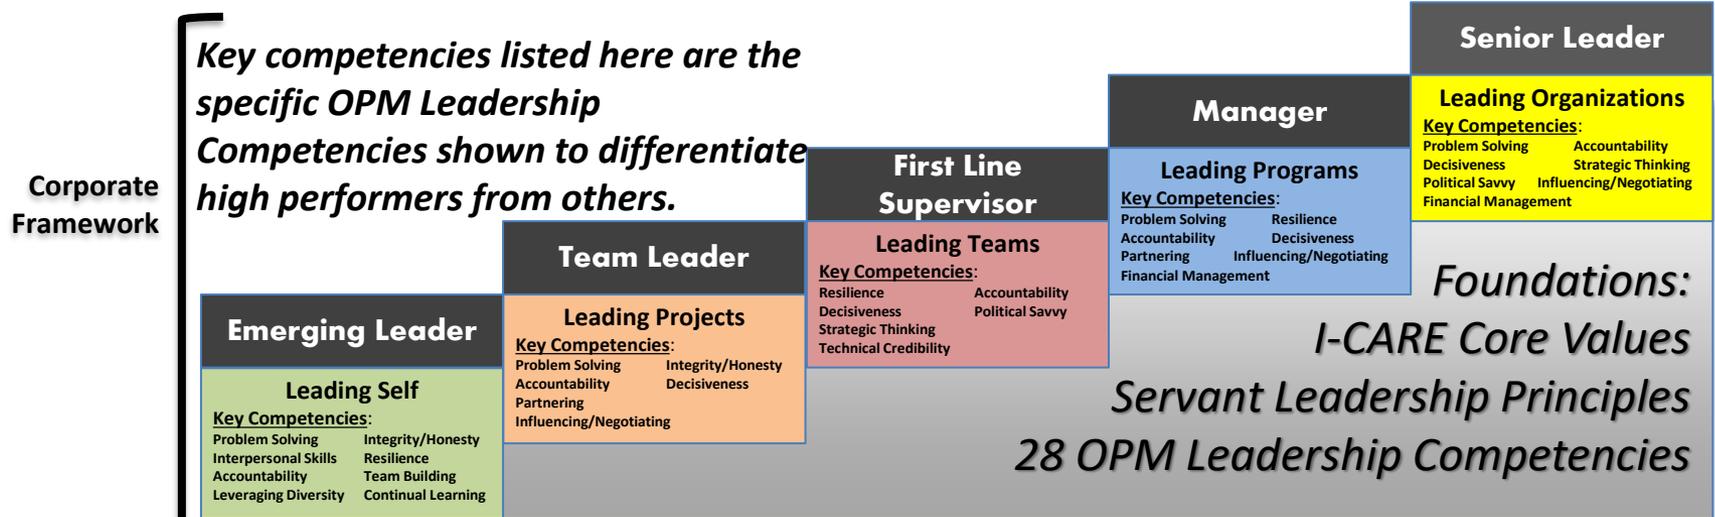

One of the ways we accomplish this is through use of VA’s Leadership Development Framework (LDF)

The LDF is built on a foundation of the ICARE Core Values, Servant Leadership principles, the OPM’s Leadership Competencies and research on the Leadership Pipeline

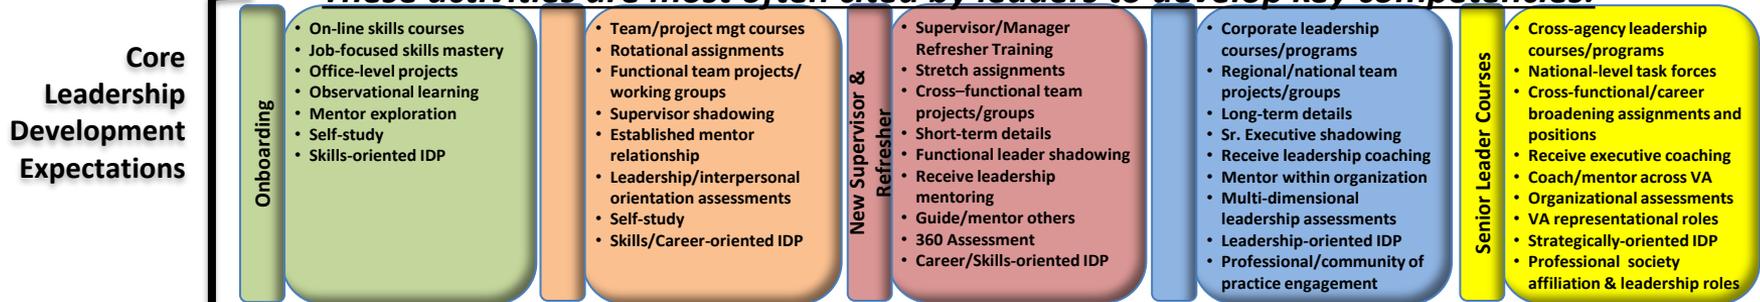

Leadership Development Framework

Service first, leadership always - Promoting leadership growth through lifelong learning in service to America's Veterans

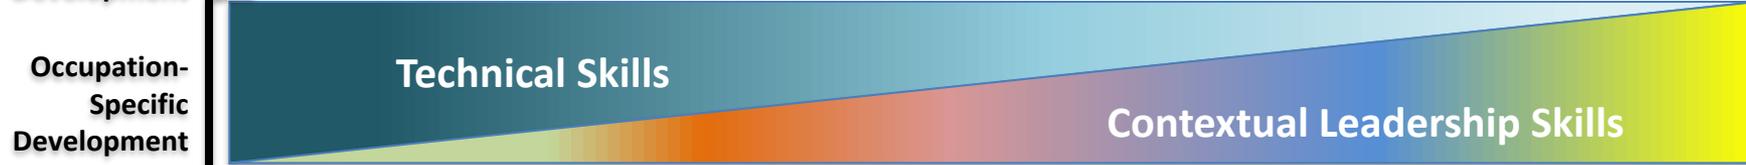

These activities are most often cited by leaders to develop key competencies:

Corporate Competitive Development

Under construction. Talent Development Council currently drafting program requirements and governance.

The “LDF”

- Hard to understand at first sight isn't it?
- We made it easier by creating an LDF Infographic

Are You Future Ready?

Let VA help you get there

LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT FRAMEWORK

EMERGING LEADER

leading self

An employee who aspires to become a leader should consider focusing their developmental efforts, at a minimum, in these areas:

- Problem Solving
- Continual Learning
- Team Building
- Accountability

developmental activities to consider

- On-line skills courses
- Office-level projects
- Observational learning
- Mentor exploration

TEAM LEADER

leading projects

An employee who is currently leading projects or teams should consider focusing their developmental efforts, at a minimum, in these areas:

- Problem Solving
- Decisiveness
- Integrity/Honesty
- Influencing/Negotiating
- Accountability

developmental activities to consider

- Team/project management courses
- Rotational assignments
- Supervisor shadowing
- Establish mentor relationship

FIRST LINE SUPERVISOR

leading teams

An employee who is currently leading teams should consider focusing their developmental efforts, at a minimum, in these areas:

- Strategic Thinking
- Decisiveness
- Technical Credibility
- Resilience
- Accountability

developmental activities to consider

- Supervisor/manager refresher training
- Stretch assignments
- Cross-functional team projects/groups
- Guide/mentor others
- Explore coaching

MANAGER

leading programs

An employee who is leading projects or multiple teams should consider focusing their developmental efforts, at a minimum, in these areas:

- Problem Solving
- Influencing/Negotiating
- Financial Management
- Resilience
- Accountability

developmental activities to consider

- Corporate leadership courses/programs
- Regional/national team projects/groups
- Senior Executive shadowing
- Receive leadership coaching

SENIOR LEADER

leading organizations

An employee who is leading major organizational divisions should consider focusing their developmental efforts, at a minimum, in these areas:

- Strategic Thinking
- Political Savvy
- Decisiveness
- Financial Management
- Accountability

developmental activities to consider

- Cross-agency leadership courses/programs
- National-level task forces
- Cross-functional/career broadening assignments & positions
- Receive executive coaching

VA is committed to meeting you wherever you are and serving you to meet your professional development needs. We believe that engaged and developed VA employees will change the lives of Veterans for the better. As an employee of VA, you have the ability to make that difference and VA will help you get there!

VA

U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs
Human Capital Services Center

Understanding the LDF Infographic

- The LDF Infographic is designed to highlight five steps in the Leadership Pipeline
- It doesn't list all OPM competencies, or underlying values, instead it offers a snapshot of where to start a career journey
- It lists some critical competencies and developmental opportunities that others have used to achieve career success

Using the LDF as a Supervisor

- Begin with a conversation with your employee
- - Ask them their short- or long-term professional goals.
 - Armed with this knowledge, use LDF as a map to help inform your discussion
 - Discuss how to build an individual development plan and how the two of you will use it
- Understand there are many work related projects that will teach critical skills and free courses, videos, and books available on TMS

Making Development Easier

- In VA we understand the criticality of the work we do for veterans and their families
- We have found ways to reduce the time needed to master critical skills by using “Micro Learning” and “Curated Learning Content”
- Microlearning is a holistic approach for skill based learning and education which deals with relatively small learning units.
- Content curation is the process of gathering information relevant to a particular topic or area of interest, with the intention of adding value and making it easier to find.

